BRITISH PREMIER TELLS WHAT HUNS HAVE DONE AND DEMANDS PENALTY

GERMANY MUST PAY THE LIMIT SAYS LLOYD GEORGE.

Newcastle, England, Nov. 29. (AP)—Germany must pay the cost of the war to the limit of her capacity. Premier Lloyd George declared in a speech here today.

The submarine pirates must be punished, the premier added, and whoever devastated the lands of another country ought to be responsible for it.

Referring to the culpability of the authors of the war, Mr. Lloyd George said the government intended that the investigation to be conducted should be a perfectly fair but a stern one and that it should go on to its final reckoning.

"I mean to see that the men who did not treat our prisoners humanely be made responsible," the premier declared. He added that he did not wish to pursue a policy of vengeance, but declared:

"We have got so to act that men in the future who feel tempted to follow the example of the rulers who plunge the world into war will know what is waiting for them at the end."

Mr. Lloyd George said the British government had consulted some of the greatest jurists of the kingdom and that they unanimously and definitely had arrived at the conclusion that in their judgment the former German emperor was guilty of an indictable offense for which he ought to be held responsible.

The prime minister said the victory of the entente allies had been due to the ceaseless valor of their men.

"We are now approaching the peace conference," continued the premier. "First of all, what about those people whom we have received without question for years; to whom we have given equal rights with our own sons and daughters and who abused our hospitality to betray the land to spy upon it and to gain such information as enabled the Prussian war lords to inflict not punishment but damage and injury to a land that had welcomed them? Never again!

"The second is a question of indemnity. In every court of justice throughout the world the party which lost has had to bear the costs of litigation. When Germany defeated France she established this principle. Germany must pay the cost of the war up to the limit of her capacity.

"But I must use one word of warning. We have to consider the question of Germany's capacity. Whatever happens, Germany is not to be allowed to pay her indemnity by dumping cheap goods upon us.

"There is a third and last point. Is no one to be made responsible for the war? Somebody has been responsible for a war that has taken the lives of millions of the best young men of Europe."

Mr. Lloyd George declared there were two offenses against the law of nations that had been committed:

"One," he said, "is the crime against humanity in the deliberate plotting of the great war. The other is the outrage upon international law."

"Now these are the things which we have to investigate. We mean that the investigation shall be impartial and perfectly fair. We also mean that it should be a stern one and that it shall go on to the final reckoning.

"We must see by the action we take now, just and relentless, that it is a crime that shall never again be repeated in the history of the world."

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—Casualties in the British Indian army during the war totaled 101,439, of which 33,051 were killed, died of wounds or are missing.

CASUALTY LISTS ARE SENT FROM FRANCE AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE

Washington, Nov. 29. (AP)—General Pershing cabled the war department today that every effort is being made to report promptly the complete record of casualties among his forces.

The message, sent in reply to an inquiry from the department, said: "All deaths are being reported by cable as fast as they are received and the reporting of the wounded in addition does not interfere with this. Due to the troops being on the march the difficulty of checking the casualty reports is increasing but every effort is being made to promptly obtain complete reports of the dead and wounded."

TO ABANDON BOWIE AND FIFTEEN OTHER NATL. GUARD CAMPS

Washington, Nov. 29. (AP)—Sixteen training camps including Bowie, McArthur and Logan in Texas and Fort Sill in Oklahoma, constructed as training centers for national guard divisions, will be abandoned as soon as practicable, General March, chief of staff, announced today. No additional tents or supplies will be sent these camps nor will any further construction be undertaken at them not absolutely necessary for the care of troops now there or to be sent there for demobilization.

The only exception will be the base hospitals at the camps which the circular directs to be maintained.

MONTHS MUST ELAPSE BEFORE ALL MEN NOW IN FRANCE CAN RETURN

Washington, Nov. 29. (AP)—Boston, New York, Newport News, Va. and Charleston, S. C., are the ports the war department now plans to use for the return of the army from overseas. Even with this wide distribution of the strain on port facilities and transportation, however, with German ships now idle in German harbors employed in the task, partial estimates show that the last of the army cannot possibly reach the United States in less than eight months.

These estimates have been made wholly on the basis of the difficulties to be overcome and do not take into consideration the question of the retention in Europe for some time of any American force which may be agreed upon at the peace conference.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS DEMAND RESIGNATION OF THREE MINISTERS

Berne, Thursday, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Socialist council of Munich has telegraphed the executive committee of the Berlin Socialist council demanding the dismissal of Dr. W. S. Solf, foreign minister; Philip Scheidemann, minister of colonies; and Matthias Erzberger, who it has been announced, will conduct negotiations preliminary to signing a treaty of peace. The telegram also invites the Berlin council to overthrow a government which continues to place such persons in important positions.

BRITISH TROOPS ON GERMAN FRONTIER

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—"Our advanced troops reached the German frontier along the whole of the front from just north of the Dutchy of Luxembourg to the neighborhood of Lipen," says the British official communication issued today.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL TO START LITTLE WAR IN SOUTH AMERICA

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 29. (AP)—American ambassador Shea had a long conference with the Chilean foreign minister Thursday. The newspapers say that the conference was connected with the present trouble between Chile and Peru.

Several Chilean consuls have notified their government that they are leaving Peru in accordance with the order to do so and that it would be necessary for their personal safety.

Tell Troubles to Wilson
Lima, Peru Nov. 29. (AP)—It is reported in diplomatic circles that the foreign office has sent a long cable message to the American state department at Washington concerning the controversy between Chile and Peru.

Put Up to Peace Conference
Buenos Aires, Nov. 29. (AP)—It is reported in diplomatic circles here that the Peruvian and Bolivian governments have definitely decided to request the peace conference to take the Tacna and Arica controversy under consideration with a view to final disposition of this question.

Peru Denies Apology
New York, Nov. 29. (AP)—The ministry of foreign affairs of Peru through Eduardo Higginson, Peruvian consul general in the United States, issued here tonight a denial of a recent statement by the Chilean consul general that Peru had apologized for her action in withdrawing her consular representatives from Chile.

MOONEY'S SENTENCE COMMUTED; HE RAISES PROTEST FROM CELL

San Francisco, Nov. 29. (AP)—The death sentence of Thomas J. Mooney convicted of murder in connection with the bomb explosion which killed ten people here July 22, 1916, during a Preparedness Day parade, having been commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Stephens last night to further legal steps can be invoked in Mooney's behalf, attorneys said today. Mooney, who is an iron moulder by trade, will be removed from the death cell which he has occupied in San Quentin penitentiary since July 17 of this year, and given employment with other prisoners.

Governor Stephens has had the case under consideration since last March, when the California supreme court affirmed Mooney's conviction and an application for a pardon was made.

In explaining causes which led him to commute Mooney's sentence, the governor said he had made a careful review of the case and found no reason why Mooney should escape punishment. The governor declared there were "certain features in connection with the case which convinced him that the sentence of death should not be executed."

"Another reason for the commutation, he said, was President Wilson's 'earnest request' for clemency. The governor said he declined to be influenced by the theory that, if maximum punishment is not justified, pardon should follow."

San Quentin, Calif., Nov. 29.—Thomas J. Mooney, from his cell of "death row" at San Quentin penitentiary, issued a statement last night protesting against Governor Stephens' action in commuting his sentence. His statement said in part:

"Governor Stephens, it is my life you are dealing with. I demand that you revoke your commutation of my death sentence to a living death. I prefer a glorious death at the hands of my traducers to a living grave. I am innocent. I demand a new and fair trial or my unconditional liberty through a pardon. If I were guilty of the crime for which I have been unjustly convicted, hanging would be too good for me."

In conclusion Mooney appealed to "workers" to continue their interest in his behalf.

LANSING, HOUSE, WHITE AND BLISS

Named By President To Accompany Him To The World Peace Conference

EX-KAISER'S GLAN PLAN COUP AND HIS RETURN TO POWER

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—The former German emperor contemplates an early return to Germany to reclaim his throne, according to news received in London through a neutral source of high standing, says the Daily Mail.

The newspaper adds that the revolution in Germany is being managed by officers of the German high command with a view to eventually causing its collapse and the triumphant return of the former emperor to Berlin. Some of these officers in civilian clothes have been recognized in the streets of Berlin. Many of them are reported to be dressed as workmen.

The officers harangue the crowds as comrades and in every way encourage the revolutionary movement. It is added, however, that if opportunity offers they will abandon their disguise, contend that the revolution is a failure and begin a counter revolution.

Agents of these officers, it is said, are furthering this plot by spreading anti-British propaganda in Holland with the view of embittering the Dutch against the allies.

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Berlin government, according to a news dispatch received from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph company, has sent a telegram to the former German emperor, now in Holland, demanding the formal abdication of himself and the former crown prince.

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—The actual procedure to be followed in demanding the surrender of the former emperor of Germany to the allies will be discussed in London, according to the Daily Express. Premier Clemenceau of France will arrive here Sunday with Marshal Foch.

The British and French government, the newspaper adds, have reached a decision regarding their right to make the demand on Holland.

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Liberal party in Baden has issued a proclamation demanding a complete breach with Berlin, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

CHARGE FORT WORTH WOMAN SHOT HER HUSBAND, MAN DYING

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 29. (AP)—Mrs. Etta Patterson, wife of a hardware merchant, was charged today with shooting her husband. He was found in his room with a bullet wound through his head Thanksgiving morning and is now in a critical condition at a local hospital. The woman made bond.

ITALIAN TOWNS TO ADOPT MR. WILSON

Turin, Italy, Nov. 29. (AP)—President Wilson will be made an honorary citizen of all the townships in the Piedmont provinces of northern Italy. Copies of the respective resolutions granting him freedom of the towns will be handed to the President at a solemn ceremony when he passes through Turin on his way to Rome.

Washington, Nov. 29. (AP)—President Wilson himself will head the American representation at the peace conference. This was announced officially tonight at the White House.

The other members of the delegation will be:

ROBERT LANSING, secretary of state.

COL. E. M. HOUSE.

HENRY WHITE, former ambassador to France and Italy.

GEN. TASKER H. BLISS, former chief of staff of the army and now American military representative on the supreme war council at Versailles.

It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives each of the chief belligerents was to send had until a day or two ago been under discussion.

It was recalled that the President's announcement that he would go to France, "for the purpose of taking part in the discussion and settlement of the main features of the treaty of peace," said that it was not likely that he could remain throughout the sessions of the peace conference and that he would be accompanied by delegates who would sit as representatives of the United States throughout the conference.

White House officials would add nothing to the formal statement and in one professing to be in the confidence of the President would talk.

The premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy are expected to attend the peace conference as representatives of their governments but like the President may not remain throughout the conferences. The general understanding here is that the present plans are to have the conference first agree to the broad principles of the treaty and leave the working out of it to the representatives of the various governments.

This would enable the President and the entente premiers to return speedily to the capitals of their respective countries so as to give their personal attention to affairs of state. Thus Secretary Lansing will head the American delegation proper.

POLES BUTCHERED JEWS IN LEMBERG

London, Nov. 29. (AP)—Eleven hundred Jews were killed during the recent massacre in Lemberg, according to dispatches in Berlin newspapers. Hundreds of Jews are said to have barricaded themselves in a synagogue which was set afire. Those who attempted to escape from this refuge were fired upon.

AUSTRIA NOTIFIES CHARLES TO GET OUT

Copenhagen, Nov. 29. (AP)—Former Emperor Charles has been informed by the government at Vienna that he must leave Austria because of the counter revolutionary movement there, according to a Leipzig dispatch to the Politiken.

WILLIAM'S LACKEYS TO RETURN TO GERMANY?

Amsterdam, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Telegraaf says it understands that the members of the former German emperor's suite who have been staying at Maarn, Holland, will return to Germany today.

ITALY'S KING TO VISIT PARIS IN DECEMBER

Paris, Nov. 29. (AP)—King Victor Emanuel of Italy will visit Paris in December, according to an announcement made here today.

DON'T STOP SAVING FOOD

The great war is virtually won—won by our allies and ourselves. When the service we rendered in this war is compared in terms of sacrifice with that of our allies, our part has been mainly that of furnishing food to the fighting nations. Although we enlisted the finest of our young manhood in our army and navy, only those who so enlisted were permitted to render a service and comparatively a small number of them. In the conservation of food for the fighters, every man, woman and child, rich or poor, strong or weak, sick or well has contributed his part.

Now that the censorship is off we learn that the lack of food was the chief cause of the speed with which Germany collapsed. We know that the Bolshevik rise in Russia was due to the starving condition of the people of that country. Bulgaria collapsed and Austria was due to soon had not the signing of the armistice prevented this act of surrender. In each of these countries anarchy and Bolshevism testifies to the condition of strife and famine that precedes such alliances.

Certainly the French, British and Italian allies would have been compelled to yield the struggle last spring had we not been able, through the practice of Meatless and Wheatless Days, the two pound sugar rule and other measures, increase our meat exports from 56 million pounds of beef and pork to 395 millions in one month, increasing our wheat exportations from 20 million bushels to 140 million bushels, and other products comparatively.

Now that the war has ended and millions of men are returning from the trenches to their native land the food problem increases. Our heaviest year of exports during this great war totalled 14 million tons of combined foodstuffs, and if anarchy and Bolshevism are to be checked we must send to them over 17 million tons of food during 1919.

Out of the forty million people of Northern Russia it has been authoritatively stated that at least ten million will die from starvation within the next four months. Through the conservation more rigid than ever heretofore, we can prevent this condition from spreading over the greater part of Europe. Are we going to respond to this call to humanity. It is the acid test of our patriotism.

W. A. Collins, County Food Administrator.

ONE DAY AS WIFE; SUES FOR $500,000

Danbury, Conn., Nov. 29.—The mystery of the disappearance of Mrs. Gladys Brown Rundle, 25 years old, from the home of Samuel H. Rundle, aged 86, on Oct. 17, within twenty-four hours of her marriage to him, was explained when she filed papers here in a suit for divorce.

Besides asking alimony, she demands $500,000 damages, alleging he treated her with intolerable cruelty.

Details of her allegations were not made known, but Danbury has done considerable gossiping on the subject since her flight after breakfasting with her aged husband on Oct. 17.

It was learned that Mrs. Rundle has attached the real and personal property of her husband. Rundle said that he will contest his wife's action. He would not discuss the allegation of cruelty.

The plaintiff was Miss Gladys Brown of New York City, where she lived with her mother. Her father, Anson Brown, now dead, amassed a fortune in Washington, D. C., where his daughter made her debut in 1911.

Rundle pushed his courtship by long-distance telephone. On Oct. 16 he appeared at Greenwich, Conn., with Miss Brown. They obtained a license and were married the same day.

A few days later it became known that the bride had left her aged husband the day following the ceremony. He told reporters he did not expect her to return. He would not admit, however, that there had been any trouble.

Rundle is a retired hat manufacturer and was at one time president of the Danbury National bank. He is reputed to possess $5,000,000, a considerable part of which is in real estate.

MOTTOES FOR SAILORS STILL BEING POSTED

U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., Nov. 28.—Despite the dawn of peace and the "Homeward

Ho" cry of many of the bluejackets at this station who expect to be released from further service, mottoes for the world's greatest naval training station continue to be handed in. Many good mottoes have been chosen and the large number still coming to light show that the sailors still take an interest in the matter. Some of the latest mottoes to be posted follow:

"The man who pulls will beat the man who gets a pull."

"A man is never defeated until he admits it himself."

"Trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle."

"Life is like baseball; the hits that you made yesterday won't win the game today."

"A hat full of hot air may weigh as much as a bullet, but you can't shoot it through an oak plank."

"The man who never made a mistake never did anything; the man that made too many lost his job."

"Late to bed and early to rise makes dark circles under the eyes."

"Keep your temper, nobody else wants it."

Congregational Church

Rev. Louis T. Talbot will occupy his pulpit tomorrow both morning and evening.

ENFORCED MARRIAGE

ANNULLED BY COURT

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 28.—In the circuit court, Chief Justice Soper, by a formal decree in divorce proceedings, annulled and vacated "what purported to be the marriage," as expressed in the decree, which was contracted between Emma White, stone of this city and Robert W. Stone of Thomasville, N. C., at Ellicott City, on the afternoon of June 25 last.

At noon on the day named, according to the testimony of the plaintiff, she left her office in the center of the city to take luncheon, and before 4:30 o'clock she had met Stone, a boarder at her home, had been compelled by him, under the fear inspired by his words and actions to walk with him to an Ellicott City car; had been transported to that city, taken with him to the county court license office, and thence carried to the house of a minister of the gospel and forcibly married.

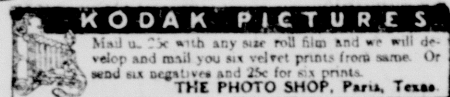

Returning to the city, they went to her home, where she became hysterical and repudiated the marriage. Plaintiff testified that Stone on his return to the house, flourished a pistol, after her mother and aunt had expressed to him their fear of the consequences should the plaintiff's father and brother appear upon the scene. Stone subsequently disappeared from the house and has not been seen nor heard of since.

WELL KNOWN INDIAN MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Lewiston, Me., Nov. 28.—Lone Wolf, Lewiston's best known Indian, who died in a hospital here from injuries sustained when he fell asleep on a lounge in his home with a lighted cigarette in his hand and his clothing was set afire, was the last of a line of Pawnee Chiefs and was educated at Carlisle. His English name was William Wilber, but he always preferred to be called Lone Wolf.

For years he traveled with wild west shows. He was an expert rider and performed wonderful feats. He was a man of extraordinary ability in other directions, and like all his race as true as steel in his friendships. He also had considerable artistic ability. His picture, "The Last of the Herd," representing an Indian shooting a buffalo with his arrow, was exhibited at the Maine State Fair and won high praise.

It was while in Lewiston that he met a Miss Ricker of Auburn, and she later became his wife. His wife and a 4-year old daughter survive him. Several years ago Lone Wolf renounced his pagan belief and adopted Christianity.

LIES TEN DAYS IN AGONY WITH AN ARM TORN OFF

Honolulu, H. T., Nov. 28.—For ten days William Johansen, Norwegian second officer on an American schooner in port with a cargo of Australian wheat, lay upon his bed in agony with his left arm severed just above the elbow, while the ship made speed for Honolulu.

The accident occurred while the ship was at sea. In the course of directing the operation of a steam winch Johansen's shirt was caught in the winding rope and his forearm drawn into the winch and wrenched completely from the elbow socket. The skipper used first aid methods, but was unable to alleviate the pain to any extent. Hence Johansen was forced to lie in agony while all sails were set for Honolulu.

On arrival in port he was taken to a hospital, where medical aid was administered. It is expected he will make rapid recovery.

HUNS IN U. S. PRISON BATTLE WITH KNIVES

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 29.—Refusal of an interned enemy alien in the Third war prison camp at Fort Douglas to take his turn at working in an escape tunnel precipitated a miniature battle with knives, in which three of the prisoners were more or less seriously wounded. The fact that the war was over did not prevent two of the men from trying to escape. It may have influenced the third man, who refused to do his share.

Two of the men are in the war prison hospital in serious condition, and it is reported that one is likely to die. The third man is suffering from several gashes in his body, but his condition is not considered serious.

The three men involved in the cutting affray are prisoners of war Max Gunter, Fritz Fisher and Wilhelm Bertsch. Gunter and Fisher are seriously wounded.

The fight, which occurred during the early morning hours, brought to light the fact that another escape tunnel was in course of construction inside the prison compound. The tunnel was found by the officers shortly after the fight and has been filled up. War prison officers had been suspicious that some of the prisoners were working on another tunnel, but had not been able to locate the workings.

The latest affair gave them the information needed, and the tunnel was easily found. It had not been carried to any great extent at the time of discovery.

From information secured, it appears that several of the prisoners of the compound had entered upon an agreement to work on the tunnel in turns, the work to be done in the small hours, when there was least likelihood of the operating being discovered by guards.

The work was begun and had been carried to a certain extent. It became the turn of one of the three men to go into the tunnel and do his share of the work. Which one of the men it was who was supposed to go on shift has not been made known, but when it came time for him to take his turn he declined, for reasons best known to himself.

The other two men, it is reported attempted to persuade the third to proceed with his part of the work.

This led to an argument and words led to a fight. In some manner the men had gotten hold of pieces of metal, which they had fashioned into the form of knives or large daggers, with which they were working in the tunnel.

They immediately converted these from tunneling devices into fighting instruments, and there was a melee in which all three participants were badly slashed before the guards could get into the barracks and stop them. Gunter and Fisher both received some ugly wounds about the abdomen, it is reported, and one of them was so badly ripped that the surgeons hold out little hope for his recovery. Bertsch got a number of wounds, but his were not of a serious nature, it is stated.

These men are said to be the I. W. W. element of the prison camp and are members of the troublesome faction that the prison authorities have had to deal with ever since the prison camp became a camp for civilian enemy aliens.

WOUNDED YANK JOKES WITH BOTH LEGS GONE

Paris, Nov. 28.—"Do your talking after you've finished work, of which there is plenty in sight."

This was the substance of a terse order given to Knights of Columbus secretaries by Overseas Commissioner Lawrence O. Murray in July, when Marshal Foch launched the big allied offensive. An hour afterward, wounded American soldiers began to arrive at hospitals here, and for many weeks K. of C. secretaries obeyed literally Mr. Murray's instructions. Incessantly, day and night, they and K. of C. chaplains labored to relieve the wounded. Now that an armistice is being observed, they are recounting their experiences.

One told of a young lieutenant brought in with wounds that necessitated amputating both legs. While he was awaiting his turn to be operated upon a package from his wife was placed in his hands. In it he found six pairs of socks.

"What shall I do with these now?" he asked.

Calling a K. of C. secretary, he delivered the package to him with instructions to give the contents to some fellow who could use them.

"I'll wear artificial socks the rest of my life, I suppose," said the wounded officer, with a twisted grin.

THE LIVING HUN SPIRIT

The Hun still is in our midst.

This same modern Judas Iscariot who has slunk along the dark alleys of the nation while American boys were dying in France, betraying, conniving with crimes of every description, dipping his hands in the foulest crimes of history is still at large.

He was unable to destroy the faith of America in its time of trial.

All the wiles of a degenerate race could not shake the ideals and principles of the United States while the stress of war was upon us; but he has not despaired.

While the Hun across the sea cries "Mercy, Mercy," when there is no mercy, the Hun in our midst is seeking by every insidious device in his power to dethrone reason and to confound the authorized spokesmen in the cooling peace negotiations.

"Brotherly Love" is his theme now. To a Christian nation he comes with the doctrine which Christ taught.

But he forgets that the same Christ who taught brotherly love did not let the money changers back into the temple. He forgets that a Christian nation does not let its murderers go free. He forgets that leniency is only meted to those who deserve leniency.

The graves are still fresh in Flanders. The dismantled homes of thousands of humble, peace loving peasants are still smoking along the old battle front in France.

May these ever rise before the vision of Americans while the honeyed words of Hunned interests are whispered in beguiling tones to American ears.

The fight against savagery, brutality and oppression still are on.

It behooves every American to remember.

We remembered the Maine, we remembered the Lusitania, but we still have ships on the seas.

The dead children of France and Belgium we did not forget and we cannot forget that their debt has not been paid in full.

France wore the yoke of war, Germany must wear the yoke of peace.

GET "BUSHY" BLAKE AFTER LONG CHASE

Portland, Ore., Nov. 28.—Eugene Joseph (Bushy) Blake, former well-known Portland baseball player and who, after his desertion from the United States Marine Corps at Mare Island, California, March 26 last, had been sought the country over by the department of justice officers on a variety of charges including several involving bad check work, was arrested in Lexington, Ky., and is held in jail there according to advices received here.

Blake is alleged to have left a trail of bad checks in his wake from California north to Oregon cities and then eastward as far as Minnesota and south into Kentucky.

Blake was born in Linnton, Ore., August 6, 1886. He started his baseball career as a pitcher in semi-pro circles here about five years ago. He pitched for several inter-city league teams. After twirling some good ball in the bushes he had a tryout with the Portland team in 1916 but failed to make good.

PERUNA

Made Me a Well Woman

No sufferer from catarrh of the stomach can read Mrs. Van Buren's letter without a feeling of thankfulness.

"I have spent a great deal of money with doctors for catarrh of the stomach and at times have been compelled to give up my household for days. For years I did not know what a well day was and cannot help but feel that I would not be alive to-day had I not been cured by Peruna. Six bottles of Peruna made me a well woman."

Ugly, Unsightly Pimples Are Signals of Bad Blood

Give Heed to the Warning.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your drugstore, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disgusting pimples, and other skin irritations. And it will cleanse your blood thoroughly. If you wish special medical advice, you can obtain it without charge by writing to Medical Director, 29 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

NAPHTHA is a marvel when combined with white soap.

Naphtha itself is such a powerful detergent, it has such wonderful ability to penetrate a film of grease which water alone will not penetrate, that it will make even the yellowest and most impure soap effective in a measure. Yet a white soap free from impurities and without naphtha is to be preferred above the common yellow naphtha soap.

A remarkable stride in soap making was taken when pure naphtha was combined with the very highest grade of white laundry soap.

In this combination of highest grade pure soap ingredients and naphtha, P. and G.—The White Naphtha Soap offers you a pure and harmless laundry soap of double strength.

The first time you try it you will notice it does quicker, better work and does it more easily.

FINDS BONES OF MAN MURDERED LONG AGO

Forsythe Ark., Nov. 28.—Jim Henderson while prospecting in an old cave on the White river, discovered in a small tunnel leading off from the main drive a large oak door set in sandstone. It had been there so long that it was rotten and by hitting it with his pick he broke through.

About fifty feet from the door the tunnel opened into a large room, which was furnished with an old bedstead made out of poles and the chairs and tables were of the same material. The door that he broke through had several loopholes in it, and here in the room were three old flint-rock rifles leaning against the wall, and on the table were three big powder horns, two of which still had powder in them, and the skeleton of a man was lying in the bed.

Along the wall on a long shelf there were several earthen jars which had evidently held provisions, but the contents were so old and dried up that he could not tell what they were.

Henderson went over to the corpse, but when he touched it the body fell to pieces. The man had been exceptionally tall, being at least seven feet.

The clothing was made of different kinds of animal skins and on the shelf at his head was found a small buckskin pocketbook with a few small coins in it. They were English coins and none of them were dated later than 1842. In one corner was a fireplace and the smoke had evidently gone out through a crevice.

On the table there was a small piece of paper on which the man had written his name and said that he was shot in the chest by an Indian with a poisoned arrow, but when Henderson touched the paper it crumbled to dust.

Taking one of the guns and one of the powder horns he left the cave first propping up the door as he found it. The gun is on display at the drug store at Forsythe.

MADDENED JAPANESE SEAMAN RUNS AMUCK

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 28.—Maddened by anger because Okada Kehel, quartermaster of the Japanese steamship Kuna Jirimaru, refused to pay him a debt contracted while at sea, Kayuta Selhichi, storekeeper of the vessel, stabbed the quartermaster and then ran amuck on the ship and overpowered those who tried to stop him, but was finally captured by a United States soldier.

Selhichi crept upon Kehel as the latter was bathing in his bathroom and plunged a five-inch blade into his back just under the shoulder-blade. Kehel, with blood spurting from the wound, crawled out on deck and signaled for assistance, but Selhichi, who also had it in for other members of the crew who owed him money, frightened them away and ran the length of the deck to the gangplank and went ashore.

Col. Charles S. Ryan of the 308th Firing Squad, stationed at the pier, apprehended the man and disarmed him, after which he was turned over to the police of the southern district.

The body of Kehel was examined and sent to the morgue.

Selhichi, who speaks little English, could not explain his motive to the police but by making inquiries they learned that most of the crew of the ship had been borrowing money from the storekeeper, and when the vessel berthed here from Boston Selhichi wanted some cash to go ashore and make purchases. He approached each of his debtors who refused to pay him.

His anger became madness when he went to his quarters and found that his trunk had been forced open and more of his money stolen. Taking the knife, he went after Kehel, who, he claimed, owed him the most money.

HUN TREACHERY FOUND EVEN IN SOLDIER GRAVES

London, Nov. 29.—Notwithstanding the promise of the defeated Germans to retreat peaceably and commit no further atrocities, the natural treachery and mendacity of the Hun had to have full fling, even though directed toward a foe that had ceased to do them harm. It is plain that the average Boche experienced no change of heart as he turned his face toward the fatherland, with little thought of home and family while there was still chance to perform further devilish work.

Soldiers of the British First army, while advancing into an area from which the Germans had been driven, came upon two graves that were found to be marked, "Unknown British Soldiers." When the graves were examined they were found to contain mines and fuses so arranged as to explode when the graves were opened. There were many such alleged graves which the enemy had prepared. Some contained boxes of hand grenades, also arranged to explode when the lids were removed.

It was found that the wires in a stall in a telephone exchange had been cunningly readjusted to explode a mine upon making connection with the switchboard to test the apparatus.

Much valuable material, stuff that they were unable to carry away, has been destroyed by the retreating Germans since the armistice was signed, according to reports from the British commanders.

LIES FOR EIGHT DAYS HELPLESS IN WOODS

Fredericton, N. B., Canada, Nov. 29.—Private Andrew Stackvale, of the Original Fighting 26th, an inmate of a military hospital here, who had been lost for over a week, was found in the woods bruised and helpless by a searching party.

Stackvale, who was fifteen months in a German prison camp, lost one leg in the war. He left the city to drive to Minto. On a lonely, not-much-frequented road he was thrown from his buggy and the horse ran away. Being without crutches and helpless because of a fracture to his remaining leg, he was unable to move. He lay in the bushes eight days, subsisting on roots which he could dig up with his hands.

He was brought back to the military hospital here, where it is feared the other leg will have to be amputated, as blood poison has developed from the fracture received.

THRILL OF HOLDUP NOT WORTH PRISON

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29.—"It's tough to be in wrong."

This was the statement of Frank Herring, 19 when sentenced by Judge Pearson in Criminal Court for participation in a payroll holdup August 3.

Herring was with two other bandits when they attempted to escape with a $23,000 payroll of H. J. Walker Co. on Taft avenue. The payroll was dropped while the bandits were fleeing the police.

Herring now is in the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield.

"I wish I was back on the farm with mother," said Herring. He was born and reared on a 120-acre farm in South Euclid.

"There was a thrill about taking part in a big holdup," Herring told Detective Dorrin. "It was exciting to be chased by the police. But now I know the thrill wasn't worth the cost."

FINDS RESTAURANTS MAKE BIG PROFITS

Ottawa, Ont., Canada, Nov. 29.—Investigation by Dr. McFall, cost of living commissioner, into conditions in the Ottawa restaurants, show that some of these eating places are making exceedingly high profits.

Dr. McFall issued the information deduced by him from sworn statements supplied by the restaurant keepers. One restaurant, he finds, serving bacon in quantities of one and a half ounces, makes a gross profit of 1,200 per cent. In another restaurant the percentage of profit on bacon is 740 per cent. The gross profit on beef in the first eating place is 737 per cent and on veal 464 per cent.

The Ontario attorney-general has taken the view that the order-in-council dealing with the high cost of living does not apply to eating houses and that at the present time he is not prepared to take action in regard to the prices being charged.

BRIDE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS HONEYMOON AUTO

New York, Nov. 29.—An automobile driven by Thomas Kennedy, 25 years old, of Flushing, in which he was returning home with his wife after a three weeks' honeymoon, was struck by a train at a crossing in Kearney, N. J. Mrs. Kennedy was killed instantly and her husband was taken to a hospital in Jersey City.

Albert Metcalf, the flagman at the station, said that as he was signaling the train to pass, Kennedy's automobile came nearly to a stop, but suddenly darted ahead around him, and was struck squarely by the engine. Part of the automobile and its passengers were thrown down an embankment. Two wheels and other wreckage remained on the front of the engine.

The railroad approaches the crossing on a down grade, and the crossing is considered dangerous. Three persons were burned to death there four years ago, when the driver of an automobile, in swerving to escape a train upset his machine which caught fire.

FLEEING PAIR SEIZED AS PANTS BURGLARS

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Residents of the Brownsville section of Brooklyn were relieved when they heard that the "Pants Burglars," a pair of young men, had been arrested. The prisoners described themselves as Benjamin Gotthelf, 26 and Sam Dubin, same age, both of Manhattan.

They were arrested by Detectives Dougherty and McKeon on complaint of Isadore Rubin, who lives on the top floor of a two-story house, and was awakened by the noise of his front window being opened.

He saw a man climb in, grab his trousers, containing $100 in cash and a gold watch, and back out of the window to a shed over the porch. Rubin pursued the man, who was joined by another. The detectives heard his yells, seized the fugitives, recovering the trousers money and watch.

Dubin and Gotthelf were held for examination charged with burglary. The "Pants Burglars" have been busy in Brownsville for the last four weeks.

BURGLAR USES SILK HOSE TO BIND GIRL

Hilliard, Ky., Nov. 29.—Miss Belle Adams, of this place, while alone in her home awoke shortly after midnight to find herself looking at a burglar. The man sat down at the foot of her bed, displayed a wicked-looking revolver and advised her to keep quiet, if she "knew what was healthy for her."

He then arose and tied her hands and feet with her own silk hose, following which operation he began his search for valuables. Bursting open a trunk he found the young woman's watch, three diamond rings and other jewelry, but no money. He then told her she must tell where she kept her money or he would "blow her head off." When she refused to tell the robber searched on until he found a small safe, from which he took $945.

Cramming the bills into his coat pocket he told the girl he was going to the kitchen to "eat a bite." After partaking of a cold supper he returned to Miss Adams' bedroom and, after tipping his hat and bidding the girl "good night," quietly made his exit through the window that he had left open for that purpose. The police have failed to get any trace of the bold burglar.

BAVARIA ARRESTS GERMAN COURIER ON WAY TO AUSTRIA

Copenhagen, Nov. 29. (AP)—Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian premier, has caused the arrest of a German courier on his way to Austria, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Berlinische Tidende. The courier's documents were seized.

Berlin, Nov. 29. (AP)—"Kurt Eisner is beginning to become a tremendous danger to Germany," says the Lokal Anzeiger in the Berlin foreign office. A similar attitude is taken by the entire Bourgeois press and even the Socialist Vorwaerts does not believe that Eisner has "taken the right road to assure the unity of the empire and obtain better peace conditions."

The Berlin press in general condemns him as an obstinate, impractical dreamer. It is declared that Eisner was born in Galicia and that there is some doubt about his German citizenship, and this is intensifying the opposition to him in some quarters.

FORMER EMPEROR CHARLES GOING MAD?

London Nov. 29. (AP)—The former empress of Germany arrived by train on Thursday at Maarsbergen, Holland, and went by automobile to Amerongen, where the former emperor is staying, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Mirror. The former empress seemed in high spirits. She was met at the station by the wife of the German minister at The Hague. The former emperor was not at the station and only a few villagers were about. An automobile load of baggage was taken to the castle, but 20 large trunks were left at the station.

Amsterdam, Thursday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria is suffering from a mental depression, according to an Innsbruck dispatch to the Kruetz Zeitung of Berlin. He sits for hours at his desk staring vacantly. Former Empress Zita is much distressed by her husband's state of health.

BREAK UP MEETING WITH STATEMENT AGAINST WILSON

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 29. (AP)—The victory meeting at the court house today almost ended in a furor when Claude Bell, a lawyer, declared it unconstitutional for President Wilson to make a peace trip, and that as soon as the President started on the mission the courts should mandamus Vice-President Marshall to accept the presidency. There were 1500 persons attending the meeting and more than half left when Bell made the statement.

"Somewhere in France" With Empey

"Newall, in a voice husky with emotion, answered:
"French, it's men like you that make it possible for 'our Little Island' to withstand the world. You are a true Briton, and I'm proud of you."
"I was hoping that he would detail me to go back, but he didn't. Henderson was picked for the job. When Henderson left Newall shook hands all around. I felt queer and lonely.
"You see, fellows, it was this way: Henderson was to tell the men in the trench that we had returned and that it was all right for them to turn loose on the raiding party with their rifle and machine gunfire, without us clicking their fire. Lieutenant Newall sure was a lad, not 'arf he weren't.
"That next twenty minutes of waiting was hell. Then, from out of the blackness, over toward our trench, rang that old familiar 'Alt, who goes there?' We hugged the ground. We knew what was coming. Then, a volley from our trench, and four 'type-writers' (machine guns) turned loose. Bullets cracked right over our heads. One hit the ground about a foot from me, ricocheted, and went moaning and sighing over the German lines.
"Lieutenant Newall sobbed under his breath:
"God, we're in direct line of our own fire. The trench-raiding party must have circled us."
"Our boys in our trench sure were doing themselves proud. The bullets were cracking and biting the ground all around us.
"In between our trench and our party, curses rang out in German as the Boches clicked the fire from the English trench. Star shells were shooting into the air and dropping in No Man's land. It was a great but terrible sight which met our eyes. Fritz's raiding party was sure being wiped out.
"Ten or fifteen dark forms, the remnants of the German raiding party, dashed past us in the direction of the German trench. We hugged the ground. It was our only chance. We knew that it would only be a few seconds before Fritz turned loose. If we had legged it for our trench we would have been wiped out by our own fire. You see, our boys thought we were safely in.
"Then, up went Fritz's star lights, turning night into day, and hell cut loose. Their bullets were snipping twigs from the hedge over our heads.
"Suddenly the fellow on my left, MacCawley by name, emitted a muffled groan, and started kicking the ground; then silence. He had gone west. A bullet through the napper, I suppose. There were now five of us left.
"Suddenly Lieutenant Newall, in a faint, choking voice, exclaimed:
"They've got me, French; it's through the lung, and then fainter—'you're in command. See that—' His voice died away. Pretty soon he started moaning. The Germans must have heard these moans, because they immediately turned their fire on us. French called to me:
"Honney, come here, my lad, our officer has clicked it."
"I crawled over to him. He was sitting on the ground with the lieutenant's head resting in his lap, and was getting out his first-aid packet. I told him to get low or he would click it. He answered:
"Since when does a bloomin' lance corporal take orders from a bloody private? You tell the rest of the boys, if they're not as yet gone west, to leg it back to our trench at the double and get a stretcher, and you go with them. This lad of ours has got to get medical attention, and damned quick, too, if we want to stop this bleeding!"
"Just then a German star shell landed about ten feet from us, and in its white, ghostly light I could see French sitting like a bloomin' statue, his hands covered with blood, trying to make a tourniquet out of a bandage and his bayonet.
"I told the rest to get in and get the stretcher. They needed no second urging, and soon French was left there alone, sitting on the ground, holding cracking overhead and kicking up the dirt around him."

Just then Happy butted in with:
"Were you one of the men who went in for the stretcher?"

Ikey answered: "None of your d—business. If you blokes want to hear this story through, don't interrupt."

Happy vouchsafed no answer.
"About ten minutes after the fellows left for the stretcher, French got a bullet through the left arm."

Sailor Bill interrupted here:
"How do you know it was ten minutes?"

Ikey blushed and answered:
"French told me when he got back to the trench. You see, he carried the officer back through that fire, because the stretcher bearers took too long in coming out."

I asked Ikey how Corporal French, being wounded himself, could carry Lieutenant Newall in, because I knew Lieutenant Newall to be a six-footer and no lightweight. You see, he had at one time been in command of my platoon at the training depot in England.

Ikey answered:
"Well, you blokes give me the proper pip, and you can all bloomin' well go to h—," and he shut up like a clam.

Hungry Foxcroft got up and silently withdrew from our circle. In about ten minutes he returned, followed by a tall, fair-haired corporal who wore a little strip of gold braid on the left sleeve of his tunic, denoting that he had been once wounded, and also wore a little blue and red ribbon on the left breast of his tunic, the field insignia of the Distinguished Conduct medal.

Hungry, in triumph, brought him into our circle and handed him a flag which he lighted in the flame from the candle on the mess tin, and then Hungry introduced him to us:
"Boys, I want you to meet Corporal French."

He shook hands with all the boys.

Ikey got red and was trying to ease out of the candle light, when Sailor Bill grabbed him by the tunic and held him.

Then Hungry Foxcroft carried on:
"French, I'm going to ask you a mighty personal question, and I know you'll answer it. How in h— did you hit in the left arm, bring Lieutenant Newall back from that reconnoitering patrol?"

French grew a little red, and answered:
"Well, you see, boys, it was this way. Honney and I stuck out there with him, and, taking the slings from our rifles, Honney made a sort of rope which he put around my shoulder and under the arm of the lieutenant, and Honney, getting the lieutenant by the legs, we managed to get him into the trench. You know, I got a D. C. M. out of the affair, because I was the corporal in charge. Damned unfair, I call it, because they only handed Honney the Military medal, but if the true facts were known he was the bloke who deserved, not a D. C. M., but a V. C. (Victoria Cross)."

We all turned in Honney's direction. Bill, in his interest, had released his hold on Honney's tunic and Honney had disappeared.

Happy asked French if the lieutenant had died in No Man's land.

French, with tears in his eyes, answered:
"No, but the poor lad went west after we got him to the first-aid dressing station, and next day we buried him in the little cemetery at Fromelles. He sure done his bit, all right, blime me, and here I am, bloomin' well swankin' with a ribbon on my chest."

A dead silence fell on the crowd. Each one of us was admiring the modesty of those two real men, French and Honney.

But such is the way in the English army—the man who wins the medal always says that the other fellow deserved it.

And Germany is still wondering why they cannot smash through the English lines.

Fashions

New York, Nov. 22.—Indian summer days have lingered with us for a long time and therefore delayed the showing of winter apparel. But with coming of the crisp cool days the avenue soon takes on a decided wintry aspect. And how deliciously refreshing it is to see the big warm comfortable coats again. And how suddenly the coat wrap has appeared. This is decidedly the feature of winter styles. Somehow these coat wraps give such a sumptuous look, they seem to hold a wealth of warmth in their luxurious folds.

They have already been voted as the most popular style of top coat and this is easily proven if one strolls down the avenue and notes the big margin of plurality in their favor.

Silvertone a Popular Material

Of course the materials used in the development of these coats are heavy, durable stuffs. Duvelyn is used extensively and a close rival is wool velour. But at the top is the new fabric which has been introduced on the market but recently. Silvertone it is named and it is indeed one of the most beautiful materials that has been seen for a long time. As the heavy labor had been done.

gorgeousness of the material satisfies the taste for the lavish, very little trimming is needed. Fur usually appears at the collar and on the cuffs and this enhances the beauty of the already beautiful wrap. Huge buttons are used sparingly, really more out of necessity than for trimming purposes.

The prices vary with the quality of material and quantity of fur, but after all I'm sure madame would gladly spend more than she expected to when she has tried on one of these smart wraps. Perfection of line and the charm of grace lurk in their very folds. One of the shops shows a stunning model of sort of old blue. Skunk fur claims the right to finish the collar and cuffs and, indeed, one would have to go a long way to find a prettier combination. The lining is of an unusual type dye silk, the colors harmonizing with the color of the coat. The proud possessor of his would indeed have an object of envy for many eyes.

Materials Combined Effectively

More Novelties

Constantly novelties are popping up. Now Dame Fashion has decided that with blouses of dark colored georgette crepe one must have an equally dark camisole. And immediately her demand was satisfied; and now we have magenta, black and violet camisoles on the market. It is rather a clever idea to wear a contrasting color under the blouse. But one must know colors and be sure that they are in perfect harmony, or if not the result would be a calamity. For instance a very attractive color combination would be a dark blue blouse worn over rose madder which would give the effect of violet. Great care must be exerted and much consideration given to the complexion of the wearer. These heavy colors are trying to wear, that is, more trying than the pastel shades, and unless one studies one's possibilities a most disastrous result is bound to ensue.

More Novelty Veils

Many new meshes and designs in veils are shown. The supply never seems to quite satisfy the demand for this most popular accessory of the wardrobe. Apropos of veils one sees the veil pine. These things are pretty little articles and one would be surprised what an attractive trimming they would make for a hat. They are worn almost exclusively on small turbans and toques.

A "Dressy" House Dress

Two Excellent House Dresses

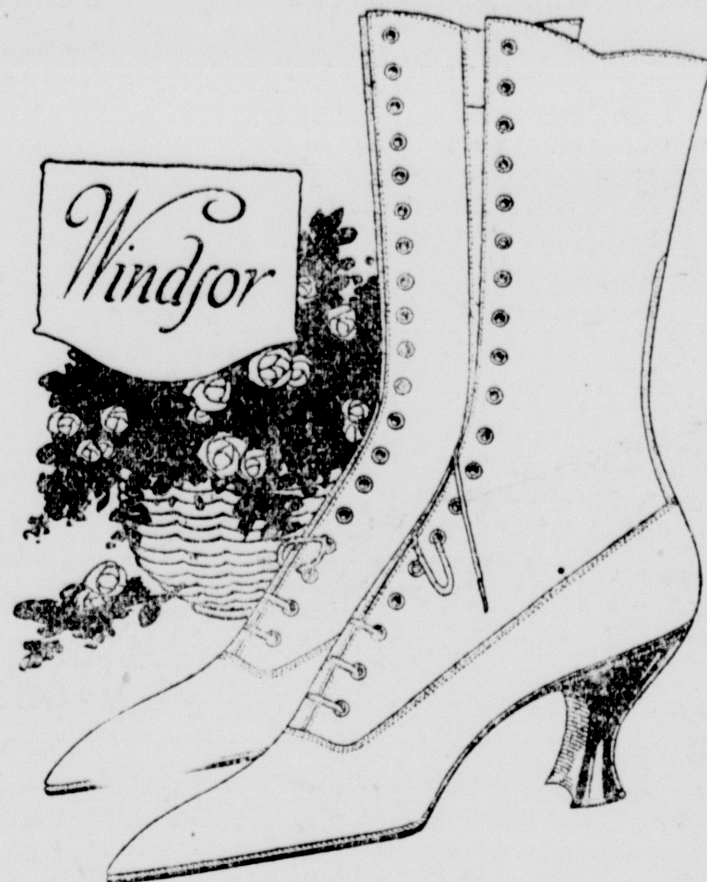

The housewife must never be neglected and therefore I am showing two desirable designs for dresses that she may wear while performing her many duties at home. The first one is developed in checked gingham; and the belt and pockets which are in one, being connected by the back belt, are of a contrasting material. The second is perhaps a little more dressy and could be donned after the heavy labor had been done.

GOLD FISH

I have some very attractive gold fish for sale at prices that make them very desirable gifts. Can supply either the ordinary kind or fancy breed. Also have all supplies—bowls, moss, food, etc. Ask me about a bowl of fish for a gift—will be glad to make suggestions. Ring 749.

BOGUS WAR WIVES

TO BE PROSECUTED

Washington, Nov. 28.—Thousands of new cases of fraud in the acceptance of allowances intended for the dependents of soldiers and sailors have been discovered. Already 3,000 cases of possible fraud are under investigation, and new ones are being filed at the rate of about thirty a day.

As a result, it has been announced that about one-third of the 400,000 claiming dependency who now are receiving checks will be dropped from the rolls when it is shown that they were not dependent on a soldier before he entered the service.

There are hundreds of cases in which women, not the wives of soldiers or sailors are receiving allotments and allowance checks having been named by the men as their legal wives while the real wives go without government aid.

All persons who receive and cash checks to which they are not strictly entitled by law are to be cut off from their remittances, forced to repay the sums they received fraudulently and prosecuted if criminal intent is shown.

To carry on this work, a division of prosecution and recovery has been created, in charge of Frank C.
Greene. Information or complaints relating to improper receipt or use of government allotment and allowance remittance are welcomed it was said, and should be addressed to general counsel, bureau of war risk insurance, Washington.

Charges will be run down by a great corps of investigators, one or more in every city and hamlet in the United States who serve without pay at a nominal compensation of $1 a case and report on the family situation in each instance.

Twenty-five thousand cases in which relatives less closely connected than wives or children are receiving checks on account of soldiers in service on whom they were not dependent before the war, are under inquiry, and 5,000 of these are to be compelled to make refunds to the government.

The bureau's staff of prosecutors has most trouble with men who assigned part of their pay and asked additional allowances for women other than their wives. Usually these are not discovered until the real wife complains. In such cases, after investigation, the payment is changed to the wife and action taken against the impostor, while court-martial is recommended for the man.

In several communities it was found that neighbors had passed from one to another information on methods for defrauding the government out of allowances systematically.
Jail sentences and fines are provided as penalties on conviction of fraud.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker
and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of out-of-date mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work.

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all,
and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui.
It did wonders for me."

YOUTH AND $18,500 STRANGELY MISSING

Portland, Ore., Nov. 28.—Deep mystery envelopes the disappearance of Arthur Davis, the young bank clerk who is alleged to have absconded with $18,500. No trace of him has been found by the police, nor has anything in his private life been discovered that throws any light upon the strange case. So far as is known, he was devoted to his wife and baby.
The family was in comfortable circumstances, and there is no hint that the young man was enamored of any other woman.

His wife, who is distracted by the futile search, has published the following appeal:

"Arthur do not believe any intimation that we have turned against you. Believe us to be true and loyal.
I need you so much just now. Communicate directly or indirectly with me or Roscoe P. Hurst. We must get in touch with you at once if we are to be able to help you in any way.
Please, Arthur do not destroy or let anything whatever happen to the papers that are missing, because you must return them. Baby is well. Your loving wife, IONA."

Police have been unable to discover the motive for young Davis' alleged theft. Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, formerly head of the women's protective division and an old friend of the Davis family, says that the young clerk's wife and relatives are equally at sea regarding his sudden dereliction.

Mrs. Baldwin says that the young couple led an apparently ideal life,
and were as happy as two children playing in a doll's house. Every month, Mrs. Baldwin says, they deposited their savings in a bank, and wrote out a check to themselves, which they destroyed without cash-ing it. The stub of the check was filled out as though the money had been spent, to remind them that they must under no circumstances touch their savings.

Investigation of the family accounts revealed that young Davis not only had no debts, but had bought and paid for most of his winter's clothes, and had besides a small sum on deposit.

Mrs. Davis says that previous to the ten days preceding the theft, her husband never stayed out at night.
The Saturday before the robbery he was gone all night, and he stayed out six nights during the last ten days he was home.

Young Davis was assistant manager of the banking company before he went to work for the bank. While in that position he handled all the company's accounts, his wife says.
H. H. Newhall, president of the bank, answered an advertisement which Davis had inserted in a newspaper, and hired him after an interview.

The Rev. C. Howard Davis, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, said that he wanted his son to come back and make restitution if he had taken the money. After restitution was made, the Rev. Mr. Davis said, he would stand behind his son during whatever followed.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the authority vested

Alderman from Ward Two to fill the unexpired term of W. A. McCrary, deceased. The polling places and presiding officers for said election shall be respectively as follows: Ward One:
To be held at Central Fire Station,
Kaufman street, S. M. Hearon, Presiding Officer; Ward Two: Johnston Building, Grand avenue, J. R. Justiss, Presiding Officer; Ward Three:
Lamar County Court House, J. E.
Bobo, Presiding Officer; Ward Four:
Lamar Motor Company's building, Lamar avenue, John W. Webb, Presiding Officer. All citizens of the City of Paris who are qualified to vote for members of the State Legislature and who have prior to this election resided in the county for six months and for thirty days in the ward in which they are to vote, are entitled to vote in this election. Given under my hand and the seal of the City of Paris, affixed this the 20th day of November, A. D. 1918.

MRS. HOUSEWIFE:

Ask your husband to buy you one of our easy regulated, even-heating new ranges. You'll soon save the price of it in fuel and think of the fine things you can bake and cook.

When you explain to your husband how much work and time you can save, and how proud you'll be, he will buy you a new range and be glad to do it.

Come to us where you will get the best range at the best price.

LAMAR COUNTY MUST HAVE BETTER ROADS

Discussion of after the war activities and necessities by Chamber of Commerce last night developed the fact that the membership was unanimous in believing that better roads for Lamar county was the first necessity. The new system of the railroads of shipping local freight about every so often will greatly increase motor truck traffic and this will call for roads on which motors can travel.

The Highways committee will take the matter up at once and learn what the people most interested—those living out on the country roads in the mud—think of a plan for getting real roads. It will be the big work for the Chamber the coming year.

Regular Friday night meetings of the Chamber at 7:30 o'clock are now resumed and it is hoped there will be a large attendance each Friday night hereafter.

BILLY SUNDAY SAYS
DEATH FOR KAISER

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 29.—Luke-warm, do-nothing Christians are not worth a nickel a bunch to God, Billy Sunday told an audience of 8,000 at the Coliseum last night.

"And the devil will bank his fires to attend a meeting where a minister of that calibre preaches," he continued. Billy was in fighting trim. In driving home his point that God's work had to be carried on with nickels and dimes, he cavorted about the platform. At one point he ran to the side of the platform and lunged forward in a sweeping gesture. He threw out his right foot over one of the press boxes. A reporter dodged just in time to save his head from the eloquence of Billy's shoe sole.

"Dig out some of that old money and throw it in here," he yelled. "The first and only real evidence of conversion is the loosening of your purse strings. You are trying to work that old shell game on God of giving him only what you have no use for. You take that stuff and go to the devil with it."

"You must present your body for the service of God, just as the Yanks presented their bodies for bullet meat at thirty-two bucks a month."

It was at this point that Billy served notice that America does not want and will not be satisfied with a jelly-fish peace commission. "Any peace delegation that does not force Germany to pay the last farthing for the hell and damnation of bloodshed she has turned loose on the world will not be satisfactory to

To The Poultry Public

We pay the highest market price for poultry and eggs every day in the year. The time is almost here for the Thanksgiving Turkey to go to the eastern markets and we expect to ship a number of birds from Paris the coming season. Don't sell your turkeys without telling us. Remember your hen turkeys must weigh seven pounds and over and gobblers 11 pounds and over before they are ready for the market. The Government has asked that turkeys under these weights be held on the farm until they mature.

REPEAL OF POSTAGE

RATES WRITTEN IN NEW REVENUE BILL

Washington, Nov. 29. (P)—Repeal of the increased postage rates was approved today by the senate finance committee. Amendments to the war revenue bill were adopted to abolish the zone increase on second class rates, with a proviso that the rate shall be 1½ cents per pound beyond a 200-mile radius, and also for repeal of the extra cent per ounce postage on letters.

The change in second class postage, under the committee's amendment, would become effective upon enactment of the bill, while that reducing first class postage rates would be effective July 1 next.

TO DEMOBILIZE ALL
STUDENT TRAINING CORPS

Washington, Nov. 29. (P)—The complete demobilization of the student officers training corps, comprising units in hundreds of institutions throughout the country, has been decided upon by the war department. In making the announcement, Secretary Baker said in some cases the demobilization will start immediately and the plans of the department contemplate the breaking up of every unit by January 1.
